EDITH MELLOR OF WINDSOR

[These diaries were written by Edith Mellor (1890-1976), sister of the well-known conservationist and campaigner Doris Mellor of Windsor. They record the author's interests in the arts, religion, conservation/heritage, the weather, trips to places of interest, Edith's work translating texts into Braille, and the sisters' pet cats, and refer to Doris and their mother, who lived with them. Both sisters attended St Stephen's High School, Windsor; Edith then received an MA from Oxford in 1912.]
