CONTEXT

Administrative/Biographical history: The Glamorgan Beekeepers' Association was formed in 1880, to development co-operation amongst beekeepers and interchange of ideas and experience, to improve standards of beekeeping by circulating information and organising meetings and lectures, to encourage research for the advancement of all aspects of beekeeping, and to promote schemes to improve the marketing of honey and other products of the bee. Three branches were formed within the association, which in 1974 assumed the boundaries of the counties of Mid, South and West Glamorgan. In 1984, the branches became independent bodies, and the Glamorgan Beekeepers' Association, now unnecessary, was disbanded.
