II The Vicarage.

NOTE.

Sydling

It would seem that Kirby allotted the numbers 4 & 5 to one document viz. a paper book containing 2 copies of the ordination of the vicarage and the decree of Ralph Ergham, Bp. of Salisbury, but on his label for the next group wrote 5-11, omitting No. 4. The documents themselves are not numbered by Kirby, and no No. 4 has been found in the drawer.

Paper book of 24 pages containing:

1. Copy of the ordination of the Vicarage of Broad Sydling by Robert [Wyville] Bp. of Salisbury:

the vicar is to have the parsonage house with the building and dovecot except the timber of the larger chamber, "garderobe" and barns which the monks are to be at liberty to remove and re-erect in their own manor at Broad Sydling. He is to have all oblations

in the parish church and the chapels of Upsydling and Hilfield, and liberty to feed 4 oxen or other kine, 12 swine and 30 geese whenever the rector was wont to feed his animals except in a close or park of the monks; also liberty to feed 40 wethers (muttons) and ewes at Hilfield with the Abbot's sheep. He is also to have from the Abbot and Convent a yearly stipend of 26/3 and a further allowance of £12 yearly with which to keep the books and vestments in order and the chancel in good repair, provided always that if and whenever the chancel through accident or age shall need rebuilding it shall be the duty of the monks to rebuild it. And whereas the Church of Broad Sydling is taxed at 30 marks he shall bear 1/3 of that sum, and the monks the remaining 2/3. The pension of 20 marks to the Dean and Chapter of Salisbury is to continue to be paid by the monks as appropriation of the benefice.

Dated: iv Id. May. [12 May] 1333.

- 2) Decree of Ralph Ergham, Bp. of Salisbury confirming an agreement made betw. Robert Manger, Vicar, and the people of Upsydling in the parish church on 14 May 1331 in the presence of Robert de Burbache, Abbot of Milton to the following effect: the vicar and his successors to celebrate Mass in the chapel of Upsydling once on Sundays on the 4th & 6th day. (... obis in et sextis diebus)

[i.e. Thursdays & Saturdays], and administer the sacrament of baptism here when needed and the Eucharist on Easter Day, church any women living in the township, and administer the sacraments of penance and extreme unction. The people of Upsydling to offer every Sunday the bread, salt, candle and water to be blessed by the Vicar or other officiating priest prior to the distribution, and to receive the sacrament of

Just before the dissolution the Abbot and Convent of Milton devised this tithes to Giles Penny the younger for the terme of 91 years from Michaelmas 30 H. VIII [1538]. After the reversion became the property of the Colledge the authorities there wanted to treat the lease as void, but Penny claimed that it was good and all events for 21 years and induced Warden Steupo to accept £20 in consideration of ratifying it for the whole term. Disputes however, arose and ultimately Giles Penny the younger filed a Bill in Chancery against Warden Stumps and the Scholars who were decreed to refund the £20 with £6.13.4d for costs of suit and ratify the lease for the residue of the term. - T.F.K.

Inquest at Sydling 26 April, 2 Jac. [1604].
Before John Hodder gent., one of the King's Coroners
in Dorset, on the body of William Hardy of Sydling, by the oaths of Richard Lovelace and other jurors named. Verdict: that William Hardy, being ill for the space of one month on the 25 April in the said year, at dawn and before sunrise ... departed from his bed and chamber, unnoticed by anyone, with only his shirt on, and without other clothing, and secretly betook himself to the stream near the bridge called bedman's bridge within the parish of Sydlinge at a place called The floodhatch, where there the William Hardy, not having the fear of God before his eyes, but seduced by the instigation of the Devil, put himself into water 3' deep by 10' broad and drowned and murdered himself. The jury further say that the said William at the time of his death had divers goods and chattels to the value of £33 .. 0 .. 12<sup>d</sup>. which remain in the custody of 4 of the jurors.

Farm Dorset", etc., at the Corn Exchange, Dorchester on 26 Nov., 1924 (See Bursary Sydling drawer.)

The distinction between { Higher Chalnington

Gider addressed by Richard [1] to <sup>"Vicarcomes"</sup> ~~Vicarcomes~~ H[ ] and the Barons of the Exchequer for the grant to the monks of Tyron of 20 marks from the Exchequer at London.
Dated 'Apud Yetk ...' [illegible] [Temp. Ric. 1]

This charter is a mere wreck. It was repaired as far as possible at the P.R.O in Oct. 1914, but is for the most part illegible. It was formerly P.T.O.

kept with the debris of the seal, in a bag to which was attached a label (ancient) inscribed: "In hoc sacculo continetur carta R. Dei gracia regis Anglie facta Monachis de Tyron de viginti marcis eisdem concessis de scaccario suo, in puram et perpetuam elemosinam imperpetuum cum partibus minutis sigilli regii confactis et carta est in parte pubre, facta quomodo legi potest"

Witnessed by [Ricardo 4<sup>to</sup>] [Grenill(?), Willelmo Tharocallo.

Seal pulverised (separate)

Titley

(18927)

In chronological order No 18927<sup>a,b</sup> should apparently follow No. 2 = 18928, in which Henry II confirms to the monks the 15 marks given to them by his grandfather Henry I and adds 5 marks confirmed or regranted in this charter by Richard I. Kirby in his MS. catalogue, says that the two Henrys are Henry II + Henry III, but this appears to be an error and hence the wrong order. [A. Smyth.]

This deed seems to have been placed among the Titley records through confusion of Kington Magna near Shaftesbury in Dorset with Kington near Titley in Herefordshire.
