Note by H.C. :- "The jury found to the following effect:- Basilis, aunt to Adam de Marisco, dwelt in and owned the house in which [afterwards] Gillian (Juliana), daughter of Gervase dwelt, and which Gillian claim. Basilis, pauperata de pube, sold the house to Prior Fulk. Peter, messenger to Andover Priory, persuaded Prior Fulk to grant the house to Gervase [on his marriage] with Albrada the Prior's niece and Peter's eldest daughter. They paid 2/- a year for the house, and had with it 4 acres of Boidland at 12^d a year. Albrada having died, Gervase married another wife, Alice, who bore him
2 sons Roger and William. "Casu fortuite" Gervase
"lunius orbatus" came before Prior Richard and begged that Roger his eldest son might be received as heir.
Prior Richard replied that neither Roger nor William, they being his sons by his second wife

Andover II

A note of the Account Roll of 5 Ed. VI [1551]. Though according to the heading, William Woodward was one of the accounting parties, yet it seems from the list of debts at the foot of the roll that he had died, for Isabel, his relict, is put down in the list as owing £27. 16. 8^d. His rent for the farm of the parsonage, with glebe and tithes, was £53. 5. 8 a year.

P.F.O.

The rents of arable amounted to £9. 12. 10. the collector was allowed 2s, the rent for 2 acres of land, late of Isabel Penton and formerly "Lylies" and also 3s. 4d., the rent of a meadow called "Lylies mead", because in neither case was it known where the premises lay. Nevertheless, the College was paying a rent of 5s. a year to the Bailiffs of Andover for a meadow called "Lylies mead". The college was also paying to Sir Thomas Sandes, Lord Sands 1s. 6d. a year as rent for "a tenement of Peter Ruge now included in the new Inn there". For the Inn called "Le Angell" John Pythe paid 5s.: "tamen reddere solent" £9. 6. 8 a year.

40s a year was payable to the college for a moiety of the oblations, but it seems that the Vicar was omitting to make this payment. — William the Vicar owed £4: and his predecessor, Thomas Browning, £18.

The total actual receipts for the year P.F.O.
